Report by the Temporary Committee on the Presidential Search

Trustee Cornachio read his April 4, 2013 email response to Alana Executive Board member Marilyn Monroe’s letter of March 1, 2013. He reported that the firm has received approximately forty applications and the committee is scheduled to meet on April 23 to discuss those applications. He also stated that on April 25 the committee is scheduled to have a conference call with the search firm to finalize questions to ask applicants for interviews which are to be scheduled for the week of April 29. Trustee Amin reported that the website will have a section for those who wish to recommend qualities they feel are essential in NCC’s next president.

Dr. Saunders reported on the following items:
1. Establishment of the core group of the Middle States review team which are Genette Alvarez-Ortiz, Tom Fernandez, Jill Burgreen, Maria Conzatti as an ex-officio and Chaired by Janice Grackin.
2. Announced Janice Grackin’s appointment as a representative to SUNY Council on Assessment.
3. Review of departmental faculty lines.
4. Conversion of sixteen of the twenty-three spring temporary lines to probationary for the fall.
5. Establishment of seven additional temporary lines.
6. Acknowledged the following events: the Honors Arts and Science Fair held on April 6, The Care for Sandy Cherished Albums Restoration effort held on April 7; SUNY Chancellor Awards program held on April 10 recognizing Jean Hassett for Classified Service, Lyle Hallowell for Faculty Service, Rona Casciola and William Moeck for Scholarship & Creative Activities, and Tonia Payne, Rachel Rojas and Deborah Tyler for Teaching; and the Prom Boutique scheduled for April 13.
7. Welcomed all to attend the NCC 12th Annual Golf Outing on July 29, 2013.
8. Announced that he has applied for the position of President.

Chair Prime read the following statement:

“This Board is well aware of the various concerns of the various constituencies groups on campus. We are very respectful of those concerns and as a board we try to make sure those concerns are heard. There’s obviously no greater issue going on this campus presently then the search for our next president. That person is going to lead this institutional for many years to come and we want this president to be mindful of all those concerns of this campus just as we are. Every voice is important in choosing our next president and as critical as it is to include as many of the voices as possible there is also the unfortunate reality that every campus group cannot be represented. We struggled with this decision because we know that it is not a popular one, we also know that our ultimate goal is in choosing a president in the most inclusive and expeditious matter as possible. Our mission is to move this school forward in a positive matter. The men and the woman on this Board have pledged to do so. With that in mind I am confident that the search committee will uphold the value of diversity in looking for our next president and the president will be a great leader that this College deserves. I know the passion that all of you have for this great institution and it’s that passion that makes this College a great one. I ask that you all not temper that passion but to please trust that this committee will do the right thing by this school and respect the principles of diversity that you all hold so dear. Thank you.”

Speakers

Elaine Soffer, LINCC faculty, spoke of the LINCC program and the dedication the LINCC faculty have for their students.

Cathy Fagan, English Department, spoke of a new course just approved by the Curriculum Committee, English 100, which will benefit those students who just missed being placed in a credited English course.
Jason Gorman, Art Department, expressed his concerns regarding four specific policies from the previous administration that he believes are still in effect: 1. Foundation’s lack of transparency; 2. Tech Fund committee was dissolved; 3. Reassigned time has not been fully reinstated; and 4. Middle States evaluations has a lack of faculty input. He also mentioned due to the lack of transparency with the NCC Foundation, he and three others have not contributed to a scholarship that was formed in their names.

Dr. Saunders commented on each of the issues presented by Jason Gorman: He stated the every one of the issues have been addressed in one format or another and has been done in a manner to embrace the shared governance process and yet, meeting after public meeting, they are presented by some individuals as if they haven’t been addressed. He also stated that being engaged in active and vigorous debate doesn’t necessarily mean that the final result will be what was requested; it should be some outgrowth of the discussion.

Jason Gorman commented that as a Senator, he knows of no such correspondence of a general announcement to the Senators about the Foundation and a delay in a meeting. He also added that he is not commenting on shared governance as it stands today; he is asking for a direct reversal of these policies.

Kimberley Reiser, Senate Chair, read her Chair’s report of March 19, 2013, regarding her position on the issue of the NCC Foundation which is inconsistent with Dr. Saunders. She mentioned that the Senate Executive Committee has scheduled a meeting with the Foundation Board. She also expressed her concerns with the lack of faculty input with Middle States.

Marilyn Monroe, ALANA, read an email written by Trustee Cornachio that she and the ALANA membership took issue with and found objectionable.

Anissa Moore, ALANA President, read a letter address to the Board of Trustees expressing her concerns and requested that the Board appoint a faculty member of color to be a part of the search committee.

Joseph Volker, Adjunct Professor of Philosophy, expressed his concerns in support of an independent person of color from ALANA being represented on the search committee.

Sylvester Wise, ALANA, expressed his displeasure with Trustees Cornachio’s email since he was referred to in that email.

Faruque Amin, Student Trustee, read a statement from a student who could not be present expressing his concerns that the Top Flight food truck is allowed to park in the fire zone in the circle outside Building G while when the food truck the Student Organization of Latinos parked in the same location, Public Safety asked that it be removed.

Paul Burros, Senior Observer, expressed his disappointment that tuition-paying students are displacing senior citizen observers from courses who can take NCC courses on a non-credit base free of charge if there is space available. His personal feelings are that this is a form of age discrimination and asks that the policy be revised.

Chair Prime announced the next Capital and Finance BOT Committee meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, May 7, 2013 at 5:00 p.m. followed by the Full Board meeting. The Board will open the public session at 6:30 p.m. and resume the public session at approximately 8:00 p.m.
